VOL. 19, NOS. 1–3 ENGINEERING COSTS AND PRODUCTION ECONOMICS MAY 1990

CONTENTS

Inventories in the National Economy

Employment policy for an inventory-holding labor-managed firm
I. Ábel (Budapest, Hungary) and J.P. Bonin (Middleton, CT, U.S.A.) 3
Credit, imports and inventories in CPEs — causality test for the Hungarian economy
I. Ábel and I. Székely (Budapest, Hungary) 11
Inventory management in the manufacturing sector in developing countries
L. Goonatilake (Kelaniya, Sri Lanka) 19
The determination of cost parameters to achieve optimum stockpiling
K. Gürmann and K. Schreiber (Berlin, G.D.R.) 25
Short-term finance and inventories
C. Hunyadi (Budapest, Hungary) 31
Models of sales expectations
F. Owen Irvine (East Lansing, MI, U.S.A.) 37
Analysis of the logistic system of steel products in Poland
D. Kisperska-Moron (Katowice, Poland) 47
Input–output simulations of inventory fluctuations
M.C. Lovell (Middletown, CT, U.S.A.) 57
Study of inventory structures and trends in Sweden and Finland
J. Borg (Linköping, Sweden) and T. Pirttilä (Lappeenranta, Finland) 65
Economic consequences of non-optimal inventory holdings in India and Iran — An integrated linear programming and input–output approach
K.N. Prasad, A.A. Banouei and A.M. Swaminathan (Bombay, India) 73
An essay on economic reforms and inventories
K. Trdlicová (Prague, Czechoslovakia) 81
Evidence from seven countries on whether inventories smooth aggregate output
K.D. West (Madison, WI, U.S.A.) 85
Equilibrium and adjustments in noncompetitive markets: Lost sales versus backlogging processes
E. Zabel (Gainesville, FL, U.S.A.) 91
Influence of the information system on inventory management
Z. Zahariev (Sofia, Bulgaria) 101

Inventory Management

Implications of the EOQ assumptions on the valuation of the average investment
F.J. Arcelus and G. Srinivasan (Fredericton, Canada) 107
A case study in cyclic assembly planning and dynamic coordinated component shops' loading in a locks manufacturing plant
P.G. Awate (Bangkok, Thailand) 115
Disaggregating aggregate production plans to smooth workload variation
M.A. Azoza and M.C. Bonney (Nottingham, Great Britain) 125
Computer-aided disposition of the reserve of spare parts
V. Bühring, K.-D. Uhlemann and K. Wilhelm (Zwickau, G.D.R.) 133
An industrial study of the effects of batch sizes on the performance of the overall manufacturing system
M.D. Byrne (Nottingham, Great Britain) and P. O'Grady (Raleigh, NC, U.S.A.) 139
Cross-national comparison of production–inventory management practices
A. Chikán (Budapest, Hungary) and D.C. Whybark (Bloomington, IN, U.S.A.) 149
Materials management in service industries
R. Van Dierdonck and G. Brandt (Ghent, Belgium) 157
The impact of flexible manufacturing systems (FMS) on inventories
P. Dimitrov (Laxenburg, Austria) 165
Criteria of inventory pricing
M. Giganti (Genova, Italy) 175
A simple heuristic method for planning inventory at a coke plant
E. Hensvold (Luleå, Sweden) 183

Medium to short term finite capacity scheduling: A planning methodology for capacity constrained workshops
S.W. McCarthy and K.D. Barber (Manchester, Great Britain) 189
Economic order quantity and storage size – Some considerations
S. Subba Rao (Toledo, OH, U.S.A.) and H. Bahari-Kashani (Monmouth, OR, U.S.A.) 201
The role of the bill of material in manufacturing systems
P.S. Rusk (Manchester, Great Britain) 205
Reducing raw material inventories for plastic components production
K. Spälti (Bern, Switzerland) and S.B. Spälti (Lausanne, Switzerland) 213
Utilisation of information technique – The condition of reconstruction
G. Tomek (Prague, Czechoslovakia) 221
Planning for CIM in Hungary: Facts about and attitudes to implementation
G. Vastag (Budapest, Hungary) 229
On the choice of batch mode in order to maximize throughput
P.J. Weeda (Enschede, The Netherlands) 241
Scheduling a flexible machining centre
W.H.M. Zijm and E.H.L.B. Nelissen (Eindhoven, The Netherlands) 249

Mathematical Models of Inventories

An eclectic algorithm for inventory replenishment for items with increasing linear trends in demand
M. Amrani and G.K. Rand (Lancaster, Great Britain) 261
Risk in inventory models: Review and implementation
M. Anvari and M. Kusy (Montreal, Canada) 267
Delay of payments vs. price discounts for extraordinary purchases: The buyer's perspective
F.J. Arcelus and G. Srinivasan (Fredericton, Canada) 273
Evaluation of a new type of sequential lot sizing techniques
S. Axsäter and B. Samuelsson (Luleå, Sweden) 281
Single and multistage production lot sizing with work-in-process inventory considerations
A. Banerjee and J.S. Burton (Philadelphia, PA, U.S.A.) 287
Inventory systems optimization for dynamic stochastic and periodical demand
M. Bogataj and L. Bogataj (Ljubljana, Yugoslavia) 295
Inventory control in case of unkown demand distribution
E.V. Bulinskaya (Moscow, U.S.S.R.) 301
Multi-item production lot sizing using a search simulation approach
M.D. Byrne (Nottingham, Great Britain) 307
An integrated inventory model based upon GRAI tools
D. Chen, G. Doumeingts and L. Pun (Bordeaux, France) 313
Assessing manufacturing system performance: Frequency response revisited
J. Edghill and D.R. Towill (Cardiff, Great Britain) 319
Naddor's demand patterns and the economic order quantity under certainty
H.-J. Girlich (Leipzig, G.D.R.) 327
The distribution of an additive in a chemical process: An apllication of input–output theory
R.W. Grubbström (Linköping, Sweden) 333
Price discounting in multi-echelon distribution systems
R. Jaikumar and V. Kasturi Rangan (Cambridge, MA, U.S.A.) 341
Decreasing expected shortages through order splitting
P. Kelle (Budapest, Hungary) and E.A. Silver (Calgary, Canada) 351
A dynamic multi-location inventory model with contingents and redistribution of rest stock
P. Köchel (Karl-Marx-Stadt, G.D.R.) 359
A microcomputer expert system for advising on stocks in spare parts inventory systems
D. Petrović, R. Petrović, A. Šenborn and M. Vujošević (Beograd, Yugoslavia) 365
Forecast horizon in convex cost inventory model with spoilage
R. Rempala (Warsaw, Poland) 371
A dynamic energy production model
K. Richter (Karl-Marx-Stadt, G.D.R.) 375
An inventory model under inflation for stock dependent consumption rate items
Prem Vrat and G. Padmanabhan (New Delhi, India) 379
Spare parts inventory planning for a redundant system subject to a phased mission
M. Vujošević, R. Petrović and A. Šenborn (Beograd, Yugoslavia) 385
